> John Roach next applied for a transfer of his license for the Rising Sun Tayern to George Rayner, formerly barkeeper at the British Queen. Mr May recalled to mind the application for a summons against Rayner made some days ago by George Thompson, and stated that, although that case had not come officially before him, still he would remember that all violence was most unbecoming in any one holding a position such as that of a tavern-keeper. In point of fact, had the case not been kept back, by which proceeding he judged that Rayner was not so culpable as at first supposed, he would not have have got the license. Here Rayner pleaded apologetionly that he only struck one blow; but his Worship said that Thompson's face could not have been disfigured in the manner he saw, by one blow. Notwithstanding, as he had not been called upon; to investigate Bremen ship Charlotte, and was sued for the case, he would grant the transfer. applicant (Roach), in reply to the Court, said that he purposed returning into the

THE TIENTSIN TREATY AND THE ENGLISH COMMERCIAL INTERESTS. - Au important discussion upon this subject took place yesterday at the meeting of the Council of the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, founded upon a memorial from the Colonial and Foreign Trade Committee of the Chamber, and a number of documents from the Hong. kong and Shanghai Chamber of Commerce. It was urged in these documents, that as the time for a revision of the treaty would be in June next, the attention of the Government should be called to the importance of securing more ample privileges for British commercial residents, modifications of duties on manufactured goods, &c. Mr Forwood and Mr Trimble dwelt upon the importance of foreign capitalists and traders having facilities afforded them to develop the internal navigation and resources of China, to work native coal-fields, construct railways; and to open up markets for Manchester and general goods. The memorial of the committee was adopted .- Liverpool Correspondent of Edinburgh Weekly Review.

Our Canton correspondent writes, under date 2nd June :- The late Footsi Cheong had formed a correct opinion of the disposition of the Cantonese for kicking up rows, and it was with a view of preventing the committal of disturbance that His Excellency did not grant permission for theatrical entertainments during his tenure of office. But after his departure hence theatricals have been resumed, and the Sun Shameen (new Shameen) has continued to improve by its flower boats presenting a more lively appearance. During the past week the sons of Thespis have been performing near tha race-course, whom a number of rowdies bent upon obtaining free admission, kicked sued several of the rabble were wounded. The Wy-Sing lottery system, which Cheeng put a stop to and refunded to the license-holder, for the unexpired term, the balance of what was "squeezed" out of him for the purpose, has been re-established by the Chetoi for a consideration of $310,000 payable in three instalments, with the privilege to the present license-holder of four years operation. If your Sir Richard would convert the vice of gambling into a lottery system, it would perhaps find favor with he European section of the community, and, moreover, yield a larger revenue to the Colonial treasury. The residents at the treaty ports may also then be expected to throw not a few dollars into the Colonial coffers by their being afforded the opportunity of dabbling in lottery tickets. If time bargains and dabbling in shares in the joint-stock associations are not a species of gambling, particularly in the case of the latter when it is apparent that a combination of Powe fuls keeps up or down the value of stock, which the state of affairs of the institution does not justify, neither will it be a sin to invest a few dollars in lottery tickets. A change over the spirit of the dream seems to have come upon the bolted shroff, who has put in an appearance in propria persona. It appears there will be a deficiency of about forty per cent. to be made good to the depositors, but this it is expected will be easily arranged, since the chief supporters of the institution are said to be wealthy individuals, who have carried on business for over twenty years. Thus the slight shock, which the well-tested honesty of the Cautonese received, will be much sooner forgotten than the report of it was credited, and the well-grounded opinion of

THE ABYSSINIAN EXPEDITION.

We make no apology for occupying so much of our columns with letters descriptive of the result of the Expedition to rescue the prisoners held by King Theodorus. On Good Friday last (as we learn by a despatch from Sir Robert Napier), an engagement took place before Magdala, the King's position, between the invading force, and the King's army, in which the latter was defeated with heavy loss.

The Prince made a feeling reply, displaying considerable emotion The Prince embarked at two o'clock, Thousands of persons assembled on the quay. The ships of war manned their yards and fired Royal salutes. The Governor also went on board at three o'clock, to may his last and parting respects to the rince. It was not till six o'clock the Galaten got under weigh. The engines were started, and as the moon rose the moble frigate steamed slowly down the harbour, the Vernon firing a Royal salute, and the band of the Challenger playing "Home, Sweet Home," as the Royal captain's frigate passed. The scene at the moment was very fine, and the cheering which rang over the harbour will not soon be forgotten by our Royal visitor. The steamers and yachts accompanied the Galatea to the Heads, where the farewell cheers were renewed. The Galatea crossed the bar before eight o'clock.

It must not contain any letter, open or and possesses a pair of lifting shears. sealed, nor any sealed enclosure whatever. No packet must exceed two feet in length, breadth or depth; exceeding these dimensions it cannot be forwarded through the

AS REGARDS PATTERNS. They must not be of intrinsic value. This rule excludes all articles of a saleable nature, and indeed, whatever may have a value of its own, apart from its mere use as a pattern; and the quantity of any material sent ostensibly as a pattern must not be so great that it can fairly be considered as having on this ground an intrinsic value.

There must be no writing or marks other than the address of the person for whom the packet is intended, a trade mark and numbers, and prices of the articles; otherwise the Packet will be detained or forwarded charged as an unpaid letter.

The Patterns must be sent in covers open at the ends, so as to be easy of examination. Samples however, of seeds, drugs, and so forth, which cannot be sent in open covers, may be enclosed in bage of linen or other material, tied at the neck; bags so closed that they cannot readily be opened, even although they be transparent, must not be used for this purpose. Non-compliance with this rule will also subject the packet to be detained, or forwarded as an unpaid letter.

· The Packets or the contents thereof must not contain any inclosure, scaled or otherwise closed against inspection.

In all other respects the general regulations of the Book Post will apply to the Pattern Post. Under these regulations, in order to prevent any interruption to the regular transmission of letters, a Packet of Patterns may, when it is necessary be kept back for the following Mail by which, in the ordinary course, it would be forwarded. The decision of the Postmaster General as to the eligibility of any Packet, pattern, or sample contained therein, to be forwarded under these regulations, will be final suitable to the climates of India and China as this line and invigorating medicine. It is particularly adapted to the constitution of European ladies, as it is never failing in its effects in all diseases peculiar to females, while those who are attenuated by the debilitating effects of the above climates will find in this wonderful remedy a kind of talisman whereby they may insure a restoration to robust health. HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

The science of Medicine has never before produced any remedy that can be compared to this wonderful Ointment, as it cares after all other means have failed, all wounds, sores, ulcers, and also the most inveterate skin diseases peculiar to the climates of India and China. It is the true friend of the Soldier and Civilian, as certain old sores can be removed by it that cannot be conquered by any other treat-Hongkong, February 1, 1867.

We insert this week, apropos of some piquant correspondence which has appeared of the late in our columns, an extract from the new publication, "Notes and Querie on China and Japan," on the subject of in fanticide, which we particularly recom mend to the notice of our contributors as containing some reliable facts in cor nection with the vexed question. Such a work as the "Notes" is pect liarly adapted for bringing to light valu able information in respect to this country, and its people, language, and in stitutious; and we trust it will be as warmly supported as it deserves by the nume rous rising and energetic men, who are now, thanks principally to the philological la bours of Mr Secretary Wade, making rapid advance in the acquirement of the language to say nothing of the devoted missionaries who have already grown grey in their service to the cause to which they have given themselves.

Opinions of the Press. N. C. Daily News, May 16.

A very interesting book has lately been published, entitled " The Treaty Ports of China and Japan," to which it forms a complete guide, and regarding the history of which it gives interesting particulars. Maps of the various localities described are inserted, and an appendix shows the existing means of transport between Europe and America and these two countries. A work of the kind was much needed, to place within reach of the general public information regarding the districts in which they reside that had hitherto been concealed under the mysterious hieroglyphics of the Chinese language, or at best open only to sinologues. The modest hope expressed by the authors, that much will be found in the present book that is new nd unknown to the general reader, is, we think, fully justified. * * * Hongkong and Cauton, for example, each occupy more than 100 pages, comprising every conceivable particular regarding them, from their history native and foreign, to particulars of the geological formation and botanical wealth of the neighbourhood, * * * Not the least interesting feature in the book under review, is the insight it affords us into the character of the population in diferent parts of this vast empire, * * * One of the most interesting chapters is devoted to a sketch of the history and topographical testures of Formosa. The vicissitudes of its history, the peculiarities of its inhabitants, and the reputed mineral wealth of its hills afford ample subject for research; and, to a person of Mr Swinhoo's tastes, must have offered powerful attractions. From his "Notes on Formosa" are derived many of the particulars given in the work under review. * * * Interesting descriptions of the fauna and flore of the island are given, for details of which we refer our readers to the book itself. We have, we believe, said enough to show the scope and character of the work; and must take leave of it for the present, though with the intention of completing our sketch of the information it gives regarding the various treaty ports, on a future occasion. In the meantime, we can assure our readers that no one who takes the trouble to gain a more intimate knowledge of it, will regret the time employed. (Singapore Free Press, May 9.)

We referred briefly, several days ago, to a new work published by Messrs, A. > From the Englishman (Calcutta) of June 8:-"The celebrated volumes of the French Aobé Hue on China, and Sir Rutherford Alcock's account of Japan are, no doubt, works of a far higher class and more extensive scope than the one now before us; but for practical utility. for all purposes of locomotion, trading and residence in any of the places coming within its compass, The Treaty Ports of China and Japan, by Messrs Mayers, Dennys and King, far surpasses them. It is difficult to know under what class of books to place it. for it contains a mixture of history, topography, bygiene, Murray's Hand-book and Bradshaw's Guide,—all as complete and excellent in their own line as could be expected; and though, perhaps, the book will not prove attractive to students, it is calculated to give a more intimate knowledge of the towns it describes, aided by the excellent maps which accompany it-the work entirely of Chinese-than any of the more elaborated works that have preceded * * * We trust we have said enough a show that for any one about to visit, or reside in either of the countries described. this work contains not only most valuable information, but many useful hints.

Shanghar Recorder May 7, and Supreme Court and Consular Gazette, May 11, 1867 A very useful book has just been issued from the Press in Hongkong under the title of the " Guide Book and Vade-mecum to the Treaty Ports of China and Japan," compiled and edited by Mr N. APPENDIX.—Containing Sailing Directions for the Coast of China, and for the Japan Islands; also giving the meanings of Chinese Words occurring in Charts and Sailing Directions; and also a Table of Po-sitions of places on the Chinese and Japanese Coasts.

The author in his Preface says :- "The tables in Chap. VII., for estimating prices, tables in Chap. VII., for estimating prices, measurement of goods, exchanges, we have been selected from those constantly in use among the foreign merchants in China. Those for calculating the prices of tea in dollars or pence have been copied from the more extended tables, by the kind permission of the author, P. Loureiro, Esq. The last section of the same chapter, on "Movements in Bullion," has been prepared and furnished for the Guide by Patrick R. Harper, Esq., of the Commercial Bank of India at Hongkong, who has had much experience in the exchanges and movements of the precious metals in Eastern Asia.

"The Appendix of Sailing Directions has been reprinted from the China Pilot." With short interruptions, the coasts from Singapore to Hakodadi are all described in it; and for the Chinese coasts, the Directions have been improved by the insertion tions have been improved by the insertion of the Chinese characters for the names o all places that could be ascertained."
